Abstract

The main issue of research is to reveal the effect of family socialization on youths' participation in making and taking – decision inside the family. The research is also an attempt to highlight the ways of socialization which is followed in upbringing of youths inside family. It also aims to support the good behaviours and give up the unfruitful ones. These things, in my point of view, would support the research.

The research is going to achieve a group of goals such as:

- knowing the extent of youth participation in taking – decisions inside the family.
- Knowing the ways of socialization which take place in family.
- Revealing the right ways of socialization which enable the youths of an active participation in different community's activities.
- knowing the difficulties which stand in the face of youths to take part in taking – decision inside the family.

The research is mainly based on a major hypothesis which confirms that there is a relationship between the ways of socialization in family and between the extent of youths participation in taking _
