

The Possible concept by Diodorus of Megara Its Logical significance and ontological Aspects

Dr. Hana Muhammed Al Jazr *

Abstract

This research tries to illustrate the historicism of the concept of the possible, and explain the effect of Aristotle's text on the Diodorus's text, through the comparison between Aristotle and Diodorus about this concept. So we will analyze the concept of the possible and shed the light -on its logical and-ontological aspects by Diodorus, to know how it can be determined inside by talking about the possible from the logical aspect.

At the end, we will try to know the size of effecting the futurist possible concept by Diodorus on the Islamic Arabic logic, and the European classical determinism concept.
